

Rooney Fish

Chilled Fresh Frozen

Background

Established in 1975, Rooney Fish is a family-owned and managed company based in Kilkeel, County Down which specializes in the processing, cooking, chilling and freezing of fresh Shellfish.

The company operates from one of the industries most modern and EC approved processing plants with extensive freezing storage capacity. It sources its shellfish from local fishing fleet, purchasing about 90 % of the local catch.

This fresh shellfish is carefully prepared to the strictest quality controls meeting all EC standards and captures the delicious seafood flavour by fast nitrogen freezing at -135oC.

The company installed new and fully automated cooking machinery that enables them to offer customers new added-value products. This machinery was developed in association with a team of Canadian engineers with vast experience in the shellfish processing industry. The unique cooking system is the only one of its type in operation throughout the global industry.

Rooney Fish invested around three million euro in this new machinery three years ago to meet market opportunities. They have expanded in recent years and now has offices in France, Spain and Italy. They also has distributors in Dubai, Croatia, Slovenia and Japan.
