Background

WD Meats is one of Northern Ireland's foremost meat wholesale and exporting companies, specialising in the processing of beef.

The company operates from one of the most advanced meat processing plants in Europe. The modern, 100 000 sq ft complex, built on 35 acres, incorporates the company's total processing operation under one roof. Slaughtering, boning, packing and despatch facilities are all provided in house, giving the company complete control over all stages of production and assuring customers of the highest standards in all aspects of the processing operation.

From the inspection of incoming livestock to the final despatch of order, we operate a stringent quality assurance programme. Our employees work together with the Department of Agriculture and the Livestock and Meat Commission to guarantee the quality of our products.

The highest veterinary and meat inspection standards are followed at all times. As a further guarantee of quality of product we operate a Hazard Analysis Critical Control Point system ( H.A.C.C.P).
