Background

Mourne Dew Distillery is the first legal distillery to operate in the Mourne Mountains for many centuries. We are the inheritor of a distilling tradition that has endured through the tumultuous history of this great island.

In early September 2018, Mourne Dew Distillery launched its first gin, Kilbroney; a beautiful, premium Irish gin. Next came a distinctly flavoured, Ruby Irish Gin. In recent generations it had become a folk memory but now memory is reality and Mourne Dew Distillery is part of the renaissance in Irish distilling. We are a fusion of ancient and modern in that old recipes have been updated using modern technology. Tried and tested techniques are augmented with cutting edge distillation and flavour development processes to produce outstanding award-winning liqueurs.

Over time we will be introducing many new products to market but we truly believe that our current offerings of award winning Kilbroney and Rostrevor gins and Pooka poitíns are the finest examples of their genres that you will come across. We hope you will agree!

In April 2021 the distillery launched a Premium Irish Vodka and a unique Wild Mourne Rose Irish Vodka. Both have been distilled six times using the small distillery's vacuum distillation process for smoother and stronger flavours and have 40 percent ABV. The new vodkas are now being distributed throughout the UK and the island of Ireland.

Mourne Dew has employed an ethnobotanist to scour the mountains, foraging local botanicals. This has enabled the company to build up a library of very special tinctures using the low temperature, vacuum distillation process to gently extract the flavours from the delicate flora.

The company is enjoying success in international markets such as France and Germany with its ever expanding product range and is just about to enter the spirits market in the US.
