

Ten Watch Chocolates

Ambient

Background

Ten Watch gourmet chocolates are handcrafted by Lawri Dowie, an experienced chef and sourdough bread baker, who set up the small enterprise at the family home in Randalstown in late 2019. Lawri has been selling his range of bonbons successfully at food markets in Northern Ireland. Lawri's choice of the quirky Ten Watch brand came from another passion - his love of Casablanca, the classic Humphrey Bogart/Lauren Bacall movie, which featured a reference to 10 watch.

Lawri's delicious and attractively packaged chocolates have won recognition at the Academy of Chocolate, held in London, and also at the Blas na hEireann, the annual Irish National Food Awards in Dingle, Co Kerry, and in the UK Great Taste Awards.
