Background

At Honed, we've been producing delicious, high-quality sauces for over 20 years.

Now based in our newly developed production site our award-winning range of sauces have never been better, we delight in creating exceptional new flavours for the retail and foodservice industries across the UK and Ireland. Our new, state of the art production facility in Strabane was completed in 2018 and allows us to source and fully trace each ingredient that goes into our products.

If you need some help with creating a new product or improving the taste of a recipe, our product development service is here to help. We offer contract manufacturing as a service along with the staff and facilities to bring your product to market. We can produce, fill, label and pack everything for you in house at our new factory.
